POPULAR PRIEST DEAD

Rev. John J. Harkins Passed Away in Boston Today

Early this morning the sad intelligence of the death of Rev. John J. Harkins, pastor of St. Margaret's church, brought sorrow to the hearts of his parishioners and also to many who, though not of his parish, admired his sterling qualities—his zeal, his charitable nature, his devotion to his fellowmen, his church and his God. Fr. Harkins' popularity was not confined to his own denomination for many non-Catholics in the Highlands admired his courage and many other estimable qualities.

He built the new church and established the parish proved him to be a man of great executive ability.

His Work in Lowell

Rev. Fr. Harkins was born in Newton, Mass., 11 years ago last September 19. He attended the Newton schools and then went to Holy Cross college. He was graduated from the latter college in 1896. He was ordained to the priesthood on December 15, 1893. He was then assigned to St. Augustine's church, South Boston, as assistant to Monsignor O'Callahan. He remained at this church until coming to Lowell on Dec. 3, 1907. He was assigned by him to build the new church and establish the parish proved him to be a man of great executive ability.

He left Lowell a week ago last Sunday and entered the hospital on Friday to undergo an operation to relieve him of the after effects of an operation of appendicitis performed some time ago. The doctors at the hospital found him suffering from a serious brain trouble known as ex-latro thrombus. The physicians did all that medical skill could do but without avail. The condition grew fully this morning. Rarely has there been any young clergyman in this city who obtained such wide popularity in such a short time and yet he was not at any time a well man. He bore his ailments bravely with a fortitude that came of these around him to think that his attack was not of a serious nature. He was a man of good temper, pleasant, cheerful and pleasant even when suffering pain, but at all times devoted to the cause of the Master. His energy under such conditions was remarkable and the rapidity with which

THE LATE REV. JOHN J. HARKINS

The Most Rev. Archbishop to come to this city and build up a parish in the Highlands. He made his headquarters at St. Peter's. At the Highland club he had first met many of his parishioners, being a member of a great reception.

Great difficulty was experienced in securing a building within the new parish limits, suitable for the celebration of the holy sacraments of the mass. Finally on Tuesday, January 19, 1911, Rev. Fr. Harkins moved into the parishal residence, 274 Stevens street, determined to hold services in the house until other quarters could be provided.

A room was fitted up as a chapel and on Wednesday, January 11, Mass was first celebrated at the Highlands.

The following Sunday, January 15, over 350 people crowded into the parishal residence for the first Mass. The following a tent was erected on Sunday, January 22, although the temperature was 18 below zero. Four hundred and fifty people heard mass. There was a temperature of 75, heat being supplied from a dozen gas radiators.

Because of defects in the canvas and from some part of the tent collapsed on Jan. 25, 1911, and Fr. Harkins termed it the "big wind." As a precaution the tent was taken down and services were again transferred to the parishal residence for two weeks. On February 8 in Highland chapel, a temporary wooden chapel seating four hundred was started and in three or four days it was ready for occupancy and on Sunday, February 12, five masses were celebrated with an attendance of over 500.

One of the greatest blessings to come to the parish was the two weeks mission from March 12 to April 2, conducted by the Rev. Frs. Robert, Harkins and Alexis of the Passaic order. April 15 services and carpenters laid out the new church lines and on April 19, at 10 a. m., after a strong sermon by Father Alexis, the blessing and erecting of the cross and the turning of the first sod by the pastor, assisted by other clergymen took place.

In the afternoon of the same day before a gathering of fully two thousand people the laying of the first stone took place. Actual work of excavating for the new church began Monday, April 24. Laying of the corner stone was in June and the church was opened December 17, with an organ recital and concert. The church was formally opened with services on last Christmas day.

STRIKE LEADERS

Agree to Meet the Mill Representatives
Tonight

LAWRENCE, Jan. 24.—The possibilities for a speedy settlement of the strike of the 20,000 textile workers before tomorrow looked bright shortly before noon today when Strike Leader Joseph J. Ettor agreed tentatively to meet the mill representatives at city hall at seven o'clock tonight.

While the meeting of the strike committee was in session at the headquarters in 321 Common street, Mayor Michael Scanlon and Colonel Sweetser arrived at the hall. A request for an audience with Ettor was asked for and granted. When Ettor appeared before the mayor and the commander of the 12 troops of militia here Mayor Scanlon said that the mill representatives had agreed to meet the strikers' committee as a whole and would be here at seven o'clock tonight, providing that they would be assured that the strikers' committee would be present.

At first Ettor said that because of pressing engagements it would be impossible for him and the other members of the committee to be present. Then Ettor stated that he would put the matter before the strike committee.

The colonel and the mayor asked Ettor to decide immediately, as it was necessary to notify the mill representatives in Boston. Ettor then said that he could meet the representatives of the mills here at five o'clock this afternoon. Colonel Sweetser asked the strike leader to meet the mill representatives at the time agreeable to the mill men and Ettor tentatively agreed to be present at seven o'clock with his committee.

Both Colonel Sweetser and Mayor Scanlon said that all parties concerned wanted Ettor to be present, saying that there was no feeling whatsoever against the man who has led the strike since it originated a week ago Friday. The mayor and the colonel then drove away in their auto and Ettor returned to the executive meeting of the strikers' committee.

THE STRIKERS

WILL NOT SUBMIT THE QUESTION TO STATE BOARD

LAWRENCE, January 24.—Strike Leader Joseph J. Ettor stated shortly before ten o'clock this forenoon that no word had been received from Haywood as to the time he will arrive in Lawrence. Ettor said, however, that he expects Haywood to reach this city some time during the middle of the day.

Ettor telegraphed to Haywood yesterday to come to Lawrence immediately as his services were needed. Since that time he has been awaiting a reply from the organizer who was in New York at that time. That the executive meeting of the strikers' committee at ten o'clock would bring a settlement of the difficult one step nearer in and was the belief expressed today. At the session it was thought that the committee would vote to confer with the mill representatives tomorrow afternoon. Ettor stated positively that the strikers' committee would refuse to submit the question of difference to the state board of arbitration and arbitration. Speaker Gratton Cushing and the other committee on rules were expected to arrive in Lawrence late today. They are to look over the situation here in connection with a bill that has been introduced in the legislature.

Textile workers, remembering that this strike is won. At the worst, it is only a matter of a short time. They have got to give in.

This was the statement made by

Leader Ettor at the meeting of the English-speaking strikers in city hall. Taking the audience into his confidence in regard to his conference in Boston last night Ettor said that he knows now what the mill representatives side is and also knows his own side. The other side have sneaked out to clear away the snow. They are trying to fall down easy. I will be in a better position in a few hours to tell you more.

The meeting was then brought to a close and Ettor went to the strike headquarters where the strike committee held a meeting behind closed doors.

The strike leader said that Haywood

MORRIS SCHULMAN

Was Charged With Five Counts
of Larceny in Police Court

The case of Morris Schulman, charged with five counts of larceny from Mrs. Annie Paduch, was heard before Judge John J. Pitkin in the police court this morning. Schulman conducts a clothing store in Middlesex street and it is alleged by the government that he at times posed as a lawyer. The first count alleges the larceny of $20 on Sept. 5, 1911, second count, larceny of $10 on Oct. 10, third count, larceny of $4.50 on Oct. 20, fourth count, larceny of $10 on Nov. 24, and fifth count, larceny of $5 on Jan. 1, 1912.

The first witness for the government was William Buckiewicz, who resides in Bent's court. He said he was passing through Middlesex street one day last September when Schulman called him into the store and told him to tell Mrs. Paduch that he wanted to see her at his store. The witness said that he delivered the message.

Mrs. Annie Paduch, the complainant, in response to questions asked by counsel for the government, averred the following testimony: "I am a midwife and reside at 32 Perry street. Several months ago two civil suits were brought against me and I went to a local lawyer and explained the matter to him.

"Shortly after having the talk with the lawyer I received word that Morris Schulman wanted to see me at his place of business in Middlesex street. I went there and he said that he could fix the cases up at a lower price than the lawyer would charge me. He said he would take the cases and fix them up for $10.

"I paid him the money and then he and I went to Boston. There we met Lawyer Silverblatt and he and Mr. Schulman went upstairs and told me to remain in the building. When they had been in the building for a short time Mr. Schulman came down and said that after 14 days the matter would go through the court and everything would be all right.

"Later we made another trip to Boston. He said he wanted $20 to pay the court and I gave him the money. We made another trip to Boston a short time later and he left me outside the building while he went up stairs. When he returned he said: 'Everything is all right. I have fixed it up.'

"A short time later I went to Boston with Mr. Schulman for the purpose of securing a license to do business. We went to the state house and while standing there I heard the woman with whom he was talking say that it was not necessary to have a license. When he returned to me he said that the woman was no good and didn't know what she was talking about. He took me to another building and when he returned he said he had fixed everything."

At this point counsel asked the witness who paid the federal taxes for her and Schulman on the various trips to and from Boston and she replied that she had paid all expenses.

Continuing witness said: "Some time later I received a post card requesting that I call at Mr. Schulman's office. I called the next day and he said he wanted $50. I gave him the money and we went to city hall in Lowell. He went upstairs and left me in the basement. After he returned he said everything was all right.

"Several days later he sent for me and said he wanted me to give him $25.25 to pay for the license. I told him that I did not have that much money with me and he said that he would give me $25 at that time and I gave him the money and he showed me a piece of paper with a seal on it. He refused to give me the paper telling me that it was necessary to have the physician's signature affixed. He said he would have to send it to Boston to have the paper signed and it would be back in 14 days and upon the delivery of the license I would have to pay $3.35."

Senior counsel for the defense put the witness through a rigid cross-examination but she did not vary much from her original testimony.

She said that on the occasion of her visit to city hall in this city she received some blank papers with a blank space on which to report and credit bills. Witnesses admitted that up to the time of her visit with Schulman she never reported any bills at the city clerk's office.

Witness said that Schulman told her she would receive 25 cents for every bill reported and later she said the defendant visited nine or ten places where she had been employed and the records were made out.

She denied that he accompanied her to twenty places, but said that she had indicated at more than that number of places.

She said she thought she paid the defendant about $2 for his services that afternoon. She denied that he had asked for $10 for his work.

At this point the court took a recess for two o'clock.

Charge of Vagrancy

James Dwyer and John Pappowski were charged with being vagrants. The former entered a plea of guilty while the latter said that he was not guilty of the offense charged.

Patrolman John H. Clark testified that he placed the young men under arrest at the Middlesex street station about 11 o'clock last night. He said that they were waiting to "jump" the New York express and reach Worcester. He said that the defendants stated that they met several days ago while riding on a freight from Boston.

Pappowski when questioned by the court said that he had a home in Haverhill and had been working up to about three weeks ago. In order that his case might be further investigated the court continued the case until tomorrow.

Dwyer upon being questioned stated that he had an aunt in New York and was anxious to go to her home. The court was willing to allow the defendant to go if there was any assurance that he would go to New York there. Dwyer was given a suspended sentence to the state farm and given one month to leave the state.

Case Continued

The case of Nicholas P. Presette, charged with assault and battery on May Dwyer of Brockton was continued until Saturday at the request of counsel for the defendant, who stated that he had entered the case only this morning and had not had time to question his client.

Small Fine Imposed

Shimon Risk and Nesar Nazouk work on one of the local mills and yesterday while at work they got into an argument and Shimon struck Nesar with the result that Shimon was subsequently arrested on a complaint charging him with assault and battery. Either last night or this morning the pair made some kind of a settlement and when their case was called this morning they informed the court that settlement had been made. Judge Pitkin insisted on trying the case, however, and after testimony had been offered he found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $1.

Drunken Offenders

Catherine E. Forbes, who was on parole from the state farm, will be returned to that institution.

James Hanson and Jennie Cote were each sentenced to one month in jail.

Samuel J. McDermott was fined $5 and one first offender was fined $2.

A DANGEROUS FIRE

Broke Out in the State Hospital at Danvers Today

DANVERS, Jan. 24.—Fire, which for a time threatened to destroy a large part of the state hospital for the insane here, caused a loss that will reach $12,000 early today. There was considerable excitement in the buildings but it was necessary to remove only 150 men from one section of the men's wards where the fire was confined. The inmates remained cool during the fire and at no time was a panic likely. The fire started in the tower of section 12 near the center of the hospital buildings, probably from sparks of an overheated carbon motor. Immediately an alarm was given and the hospital fire brigade responded and did effective work, keeping the flames well in hand until the Danvers fire department reached the scene. Eleven sent a steamer and crew of firemen to assist in fighting the fire. The efforts of the entire force of firemen succeeded in preventing the blaze from spreading beyond the tower where it started, although for a time it was feared that adjoining buildings would be burned. Soon after the fire was discovered the nurses and attendants hastily awakened the sleeping inmates in the section and they were marched into another building. The patients caused no trouble and quietly made their way from one building to the other. Those removed comprised the inmates who were demented but not violent and all were men. The coolness of the nurses and guards helped considerably in keeping the inmates quiet and they were told that there was no serious danger. The loss to the building was principally from water and smoke. While holding a hose, William Niblett of the local fire department fell down stairs and struck on his head, sustaining severe injuries.

PERJURY CHARGE KING AND QUEEN

Made Against Former Lowell Jail Officer

George A. Ferris of Lowell, a former officer in the Lowell jail, was arraigned in the superior court, East Cambridge, yesterday afternoon on an indictment warrant, charging him in two counts with perjury. He waived the reading of the complaint, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to the East Cambridge jail in default of $500 bail.

Ferris was arrested in Portland, Me., some months ago on a warrant indictment but sought extradition. Yesterday Governor Plaisted of that state signed the necessary papers and he was brought back to East Cambridge.

Ferris is charged with falsely testifying before the Middlesex grand jury on Jan. 18, 1911. The members of that body at that time were investigating the conduct of the late Harry C. Shaw as keeper at the Lowell jail.

10,000,000 TAELS YOUNG BOYLE HOME

Demanded by the Minister of War

Returned From Westfield Without a Scratch

SHANGHAI, Jan. 24.—Huang Sheng, the republican minister of war, today made a demand upon the China Merchants Steam Navigation Co. for ten million taels, approximately $1,000,000. In the event of failure by the company to produce the sum the company's vessels will be commandeered by the republican government and sold. The directors of the company ask the war minister for time to consult their stockholders.

Young Boyle, the clever local boxer, is coming along in great form and is making a great impression in the different cities where he shows. At Westfield last Monday night he met Young Walsh of Holyoke and the bout was one of the best ever seen there.

YOUNG BOYLE
Lowell Boxer Who Is Coming to the Front

The contest went the limit and was declared a draw. Boyle gave an excellent exhibition, particularly at infighting and the large crowd repeatedly applauded him for his work. At the end of the bout, when Boyle was going to his dressing room he was given a great hand. So good an impression did he make that the sports in Westfield are anxious to have him appear there in the near future. Young Boyle arrived home yesterday looking fine and carrying no marks of his battle. He started training today for his bout at the Lowell Social club on Friday evening.

SHIPPING CIRCLES

Disturbed by Activity of Italian Vessels

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The activity of Italian war vessels in the Mediterranean and Red seas is causing uneasiness in shipping insurance circles. Several large insurance companies have been offered during the past few days at $100,000 in this connection. A premium of five per cent was accepted to cover the risk of an outbreak of hostilities between France and Italy in the course of the next four months and although there is no apparent reason for such an occurrence a premium of six per cent was paid on the risk of an outbreak between Great Britain, France and Germany within the next six months. The Italian action is stirring steamers irrespective of their nationality and searching them for Turkish officers and contraband is believed to be an evidence of the determination of the Italian government to put an end to Turkish resistance in Tripoli as speedily as possible. It is thought, however, that the Italian activity may give rise to complications with these European powers whose shipping is put to inconvenience.

MANY NEW MANAGERS

To Appear in the Big Leagues the Coming Season

One of the features of the coming baseball season will be the rapid appearance of several new managers. The work of the latter will be keenly watched and some surprises are very likely to happen. On the new managers to make their debut next season, two look very good, and it long experience counts for anything, these men, Kling and Davis, should prove very successful as team directors.

The Lynn Item says of Terry McGovern: "Terry is hustling since he received the appointment of manager of the Lynn New England baseball club, and while he has always been recognized as the 'good fellow' among the ball players, he feels the responsibility that rests on his shoulder, and is going to make good. He feels that he can enforce discipline, while using the players well, or white, as the men say themselves."

Daniel F. Clough, president of the Haverhill baseball club, announces that he has received the signed contracts of 15 players for next season. Those who have signed are: Lavo Cross, manager; Catcher, Perkins; Pitchers, McElroy, Gero, Harris and Barry; Infielders, O'Connor, McElroy, Niles, Wilson and Pfeffer; Outfielders Reynolds, McCarthy, Klotz and Lapinski.

"Dead ball" as it appears in the statistics of Cuban baseball scores, is simply a shorter expression for "by pitched ball." It might be adopted here in place of the awkward expression we now use.

When Farrell Field and Ebbets Field are first accomplished the three ball parks of Greater New York will have a combined seating capacity of 110,000 with their stands de luxe.

Nukey Abbott, who was a star slaban on the Lynn club for several seasons is cutting shows at a Wakefield factory, and nothing has been heard that he intends to try and come back this season.

Manager McGovern is being called "Torch," and he may apply a torch when he gets the boys going. Now that he is manager he will show the latent fire and ginger that is behind that pleasant smile.

Frank Connaughton, manager of the New Bedford club, says that Klondike Smith of the Brockton team is the best fielder in the league. Connaughton was at the office of the Red Sox last week, looking for players.

President Lynch of the National League is credited with having a plan for signing several young untried "farmers" them out for seasoning in the minors and recalling them in the fall, when they will be allowed to work with some of the veterans and show what they know.

Marty O'Toole's announcement that his team is as good as ever seems just a bit premature. Surety Marty did not try out his valuable wing in the cold line of New England, and even if he has, it takes a real ball game to test a wing which has been ailing.

Det. Galner, the first baseman of the Detroit Tigers, who had his arm broken by a pitched ball last season, paid a visit to "Donnerstag" Reese the other day and the latter told Galner that his arm was as strong as ever. This might be cheering news to Huxley Jennings.

George Needham, who played a part of last season with Worcester, will this year manage the Guelph club of the Canadian league, but in order to be free, he had to make good with Burkett. Needham comes from Buffalo. There is a star semi-professional twirler in that city. Burkett told Needham that if he got the player signed to a Worcester contract, George would be made free, so that he could manage the Guelph club. The twirler's name is Fitzgerald and Needham induced him to sign the contract.

The salaries paid the stars of 1881—stars who were real stars for at least 19 years later: Mike "King" Kelley, $1300; Hardie Richardson, $1250; Ed. Ward, $1200; Dan McConners, the Wappingers Mills slugger, back in '81, $875; Jim O'Rourke as player and manager, $2000; Deacon Jim White, $1600; Jack Rowe, $1250; Ned Hamilton, $1200; George A. Wood, $875; Jimmy Galen, $1200. Fred Pfeffer, undoubtedly the greatest second baseman of his time, $750 (about Eddie Collins' gasoline bill for a year); Buck Ewing, the dandy of all catchers, $1000; Tim Keefe, $1300; and Big Roger Connor, $900. And even in the inflated period which marked the brotherhood's brief existence the highest salary paid any one of the stars was to Buck Ewing, who is said to have received $500, with the others receiving varying salaries from that down to $2000—Lynn Item.

Sportsman in the Globe says: "Billy Hamilton, the veteran ball player, now scout for the Boston Nationals, was one of the wisest and most careful trainers on a spring trip that I have known. His system was inviolable. In the old days, when the late Frank Selee was producing championship teams, it was an object lesson to watch Hamilton in training. He never took chances with his throwing arm or his legs in an entire spring trip, nor did he go to the bat in practice with any desire to make long hits."

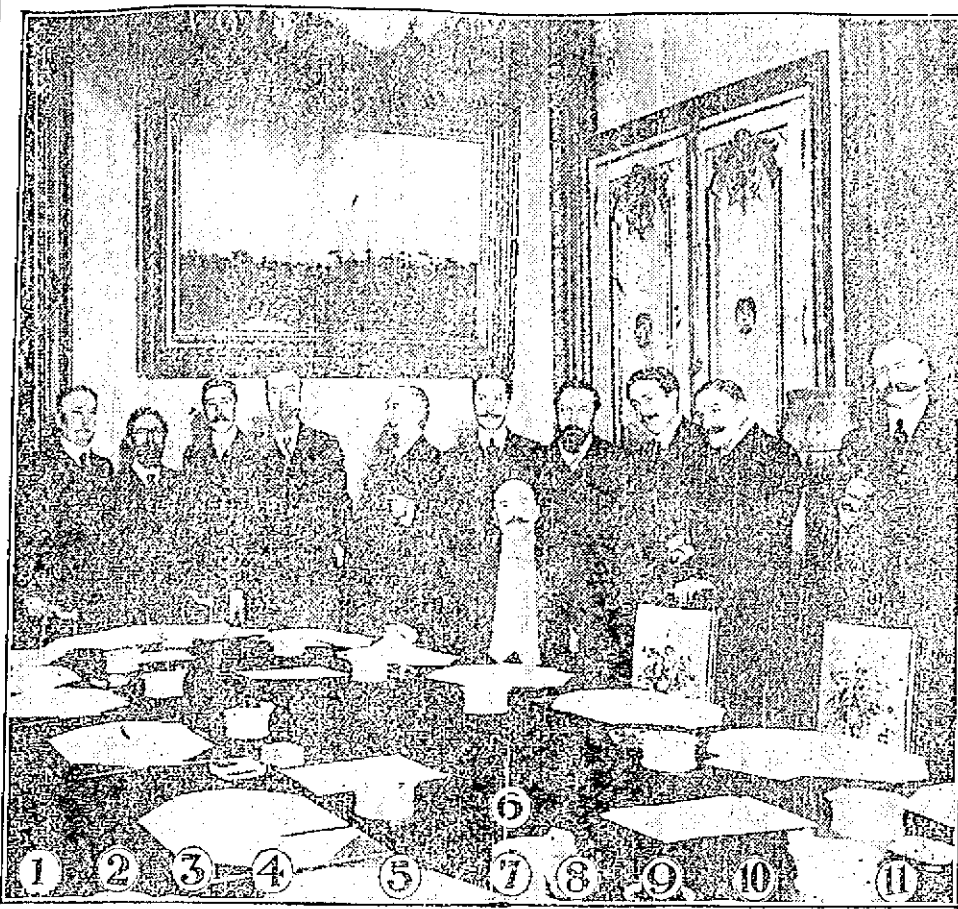

While he apparently loved the game, he stifled his enthusiasm and did everything in a cold-blooded way that never led him to cut loose until it really counted. At the bat he was eternally practising to just meet the ball squarely, and if Selee lined the whole lot up for a sprint, Hamilton, though probably the fastest man of the lot, was never a winner and, with never in any sense, shirking, always finished under a pull.

The result was he always came to the coaching of the season in fine shape, because he had done all his work under a constant system. I have often thought that Hamilton's plan of practicing in the spring to just meet the ball squarely gave him, in part at least, that wonderful eye he had for picking out the "good ones." It was almost impossible to get him to cut loose at anything that did not at least cut a corner.

Of course a young player who has to make a place on a team cannot adopt Hamilton's training scheme in toto, for he will run the risk of being overlooked by his manager; but he can cut some of the leaves out of Hamilton's book and map out his own and thus avoid taking those unwise chances that often put arms and legs out of commission. Go slow, but don't shirk—is a good rule in spring training.

Long spring training does not appeal to Billy Hamilton. He thinks that an extended sojourn in the south takes the zip out of the players. In his own experience he says that he noticed that teams that had six and seven weeks in the south generally slumped on the second trip west or east, unless they were buoyed up by being high up in the race.

LAST SESSION OF THE FRENCH CABINET THAT WAS RECENTLY DISSOLVED

PARIS, Jan. 24.—This is the last session of the French cabinet that was recently dissolved. The cabinet was composed of: 1. M. Poincaré, premier; 2. M. Clemenceau, minister of the interior; 3. M. Leger, minister of colonies; 4. M. Steeg, minister of agriculture; 5. M. Lebaudy, minister of commerce; 6. M. Coudry, minister of labor; 7. M. Bismarck, minister of war; 8. M. Messimy, minister of navy; 9. M. Klotz, minister of finance; 10. M. Chaumet, minister of justice; 11. M. Anquetin, minister of public works.

Of these members of the old cabinet but three accepted portfolios from Premier Poincaré. They are Klotz, Steeg and Lebaudy. Klotz remains in charge of finance, Lebaudy continues as minister of the colonies, but Steeg changes from the department of instruction to the department of the interior.

Boxers Getting Ready for Friday Night

There were two games played in the Moody Bridge League last night and although the scores in neither game were high both matches were well contested.

Although the Druggists defeated the Firemen by 15 runs the former team was all four points. The first string resulted in a tie and the Druggists won on the run-off. The Druggists won the second string by six runs and the third by ten runs. The score of the first game was: Druggists, 15; Firemen, 0.

In the game between the Up Towns and C. M. A. C. the points were evenly divided each team capturing two points. The game between the Klison and Firemen of the Machine Shop League resulted in a victory for the former team, which won all four points. Whittier with a point of 282 was the high man. The score: Klison, 4; Firemen, 0.

At the Chelmsford town hall last night two lively games of basketball were played. The Sodality Five of Lowell defeated the Pirates of Chelmsford in the first game by the score of 22 to 12. ZBYSZKO VERY BUSY

Meeting Wrestlers in All Sections of Country

Zbyszko, the wonderful Pole, who will meet Patofsky at the Hathaway theatre in this city on next Saturday evening is one of the busiest wrestlers who ever came from the old world to this country. Since landing here he has been on the go all the time and has established a remarkable record. He is meeting all comers and putting their shoulders to the mat in great style.

Last year, accompanied by his manager J. B. Herman, the mighty Pole went from coast to coast and from the frozen atmosphere of Montreal to the tropical climate of the Gulf and what he did not do to the majority of his opponents is hardly worth while discussing. Zbyszko averaged five wrestling matches a week during the season. There were times, of course, when he preferred to remain in his hotel, teaching strenuous opponents. But he had no alternative than to return for his contract with Herman called for him to wrestle every night in the week except Sunday.

VISITED HIGH SCHOOL

The next regular meeting of the school board will be held Tuesday night, January 24. The school board visited the evening high school last night and the evening committee on rules will meet to further consider the revising of the old rules to make them fit new conditions. It is thought that most of the old rules will be allowed to stand but the committee will consider them section by section and the changes are that several meetings will be held before the work is completed.

Tewksbury Centre Man in an Automobile Accident

Mr. James McKay of Tewksbury Centre had a narrow escape from serious injury when the automobile he was driving skidded and turned somersault yesterday afternoon on Livingston street in back of the state armory in Tewksbury.

Mr. McKay was driving along in a S. Monro's automobile and fortunately for him at a moderate rate of speed. When the machine turned the corner of Livingston street and the Boston road, it skidded on the ice and turned turtle. The chauffeur with the aid of neighbors who tried to his assistance pulled McKay from under the machine and straining to say that he received the slightest injury, while the mud guards above on the machine were damaged.

Frank McKee of Tewksbury is confined to the state hospital where he was operated upon yesterday for appendicitis.

Mr. William Jones is confined to his home with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Dr. H. M. Leland of the Tewksbury hospital of medicine was recently introduced into the Lowell board of health to represent the former organization.

Elizabeth Graham of the Centre is still confined to her home with a severe illness.

Mr. Charles Livingston of Wilmington is today visiting relatives in Tewksbury.

Hert Truendell of Tewksbury has purchased a new tractor and according to Bert the tractors of the town will have to travel some in order to keep up with his new acquisition.

The members of the Tewksbury strike are planning a sleigh ride party to Wilmington, where they will go in the company of the members of the strike of that town. The latter will also produce a drama for the benefit of the visitors.

Mr. John Young is recovering from the illness which has kept him confined to his home for the past few weeks.

Alben Heinze, the well known Tewksbury blacksmith, is confined to his home with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mr. W. S. Shaw of the Evening D. Smith Co. of this city attended the Farmers' institute in the town today with a full line of advertising matter and farming implements.

STRIKE LEADERS

Agree to Meet the Mill Representatives Tonight

LAWRENCE, Jan. 24.—The possibilities for a speedy settlement of the strike of the 20,000 textile workers before tomorrow looked bright shortly before noon today when Strike Leader Joseph J. Ettor agreed tentatively to meet the mill representatives at city hall at seven o'clock tonight.

While the meeting of the strike committee was in session at the headquarters in 321 Common street, Mayor Michael Scanlon and Colonel Sweetser arrived at the hall. A request for an audience with Ettor was asked for and granted. When Ettor appeared before the mayor and the commander of the 12 troops of militia here Mayor Scanlon said that the mill representatives had agreed to meet the strikers' committee as a whole and would be here at seven o'clock tonight, providing that they would be assured that the strikers' committee would be present.

At first Ettor said that because of pressing engagements it would be impossible for him and the other members of the committee to be present. Then Ettor stated that he would put the matter before the strike committee.

The colonel and the mayor asked Ettor to decide immediately, as it was necessary to notify the mill representatives in Boston. Ettor then said that he could meet the representatives of the mills here at five o'clock this afternoon. Colonel Sweetser asked the strike leader to meet the mill representatives at the time agreeable to the mill men and Ettor tentatively agreed to be present at seven o'clock with his committee.

Both Colonel Sweetser and Mayor Scanlon said that all parties concerned wanted Ettor to be present, saying that there was no feeling whatsoever against the man who has led the strike since it originated a week ago Friday. The mayor and the colonel then drove away in their auto and Ettor returned to the executive meeting of the strikers' committee.

STRIKERS AGREE

WILL MEET THE MILL REPRESENTATIVES TONIGHT

LAWRENCE, Jan. 24.—After a three hours session the strike committee issued a statement that the employees will meet the mill representatives at city hall tonight. The statement follows:

"On account of Mayor Scanlon and Colonel Sweetser that all the mill owners will be properly represented at the conference tonight, this body will meet in a conference and in the event that it is not the companies are properly represented the strike committee will withdraw."

Mr. Ettor said that under no consideration would the strike committee agree to any compromise with the mill representatives at tonight's conference. The strikers demand a 15 per cent wage increase, the abolition of the bonus system and double pay for overtime.

STATE DELEGATION

WILL INCLUDE STATE BOARD OF ARBITRATION

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—In addition to three members of the house committee on rules of the legislature, the state delegation to Lawrence this afternoon will include the state board of arbitration. The sub-committee on rules will interview both sides in the strike while the arbitration board will

MONSTER MEETING

HELD BY THE STRIKERS THIS AFTERNOON

LAWRENCE, Jan. 24.—A monster meeting of the strikers was held on the evening of this afternoon. Addresses were delivered by the strike leaders both in English and foreign languages. Both Ettor and Haywood spoke to the assembled strikers.

THE STRIKERS

WILL NOT SUBMIT THE QUESTION TO STATE BOARD

LAWRENCE, January 24.—Strike Leader Joseph J. Ettor stated shortly before ten o'clock this afternoon that no word had been received from Haywood as to the time he will arrive in Lawrence. Ettor said, however, that he expects Haywood to reach this city some time during the middle of the day. Ettor telegraphed to Haywood yesterday to come to Lawrence immediately. He said that he was waiting a reply from the executive committee of the strikers' committee at ten o'clock tonight. The strike leader said that Haywood would bring a settlement of the difficult case nearer an end, and was the latter expressed today. At the session it was thought that the committee would vote to confer with the mill representatives tomorrow afternoon. Ettor stated positively that the strikers' committee would refuse to submit the question of differences to the state board of arbitration and arbitration. Speaker Gratton Cushing and the house committee on rules were expected to arrive in Lawrence late today. They are to look over the situation here in connection with a bill that has been introduced in the legislature.

"The workers remember that this strike is won. At the worst, it is only a matter of a short time. They have not a dime left."

This was the statement made by Leader Ettor at the meeting of the English-speaking strikers in city hall. Taking the audience into his confidence in regard to his conference in Boston last night Ettor said that he knew now what the mill representatives' side is and also knows his own side. The other side have shovels out to clear away the snow. They are trying to fall down easy. I will be in a better position in a few hours to tell you more."

The meeting was then brought to a close and Ettor went to the strike headquarters where the strike committee held a meeting behind closed doors.

The strike leader said that Haywood Continued on page three

THE NINTH REGIMENT

Gov. Foss May Not Allow it to Escort Cardinal O'Connell

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—It has become known today on what is said to be good authority that Governor Foss will not allow the Ninth regiment to parade under arms during the reception to Cardinal O'Connell on his arrival in Boston early next week.

When the proposition that the Ninth regiment should join in the welcome was made public there was a meeting of a number of average citizens and a protest was sent to the governor. Since then many letters have been received from other ministers protesting against the parade of the Ninth.

On the other hand, Mayor Fitzgerald, Chairman McDonald of the democratic state committee and several officers of the regiment have appealed to the governor to permit the regiment to parade.

No official statement was issued today at the state house but the attitude of the governor was made known through some of his friends.

A despatch was received here at noon today from the Azores announcing the arrival there of the steamer Canopic with Cardinal O'Connell and suite aboard. The steamer was nearly a day late into the Azores and it is expected that she will not arrive here until next Tuesday.

THE BUTLER STATUE

Hearing Held at State House Today

A hearing on the petition that a statue of General Benjamin F. Butler be erected on the state house grounds was given by the committee on state house and public grounds at the state house in Boston this morning.

Col. Hazleton who appeared in opposition occupied the greater portion of the time devoted to the hearing. The petition was favored by Rep. Martin Lincolnton, ex-Senator James and Mr. Robertson of the G. A. R. of Lawrence.

The hearing will be resumed next Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

ED. S. COLTON, JR.

FORMER LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER DIED TODAY

The many Lowell friends of Edward S. Colton, Jr. will be pained to hear of his death, which occurred at the Elliott hospital, Brooklyn, early this morning. Mr. Colton was for eight years a teacher at the Lowell High school, where he made many friends. About four years ago he went to the Brookline High school, where he remained until a short time ago when he was obliged to go to the hospital. He went to the hospital to undergo an operation for a stomach trouble and failed to recover.

James Gookin of the Gookin Furniture Co. of Prescott street is in New York selecting a new line of furniture for the spring opening.

THE POUNDKEEPER

Notified to Go and Draw His Salary

Poundkeeper Oleville W. Peabody called at the office of the city treasurer this forenoon in response to a notice (which he had received to the effect that his salary for 1911 was awaiting him) and was called for within a certain time if he would go down with the sickling fund. Mr. Peabody was not quite sure that the city treasurer would recognize him and he took his brother and Dan Leary along with him. Mr. Leary, it will be remembered, was Mr. Peabody's only rival for the position of poundkeeper, but he found that Oleville had the edge, and withdrew. Mr. Peabody's salary as poundkeeper for the year is $5 and he asked the city treasurer to give it to him in small bills as he was thinking seriously of buying a couple of horses from the board of health. He understood, he said, that the board had a few horses for sale and that the prices asked were very reasonable. It was stated today that one of the commissioners told Mr. Peabody he was going to recommend that the salary of the poundkeeper be made $7.50 instead of $5 a year, and Mr. Peabody begged of him not to do it. The humor that goes with the office remains in well, said Mr. Peabody, "and I am satisfied with the job as it is. Most of the salaries paid by the city are too large and I for one will not accept an increase. I love Lowell and her people and I despise the very mention of graft. If I accepted an increase in salary I would be looked upon by the crafters and fun not in their class."

CLOTHING STOLEN

A clothes line thief has been operating in the vicinity of Clinton avenue of late and several reports of articles stolen have been received. One woman who had her washing out yesterday and last evening found this morning that several articles of clothing were missing. Upon investigating she found that the thief or thieves took the clothing and left the pins for which she is thankful.

POPULAR PRIEST DEAD

Rev. John J. Harkins Passed Away in Boston Today

Early this morning the sad intelligence of the death of Rev. John J. Harkins, pastor of St. Margaret's church, reached the hearts of his parishioners and also to many who though not of his parish, admired his sterling qualities and his noble and noble nature. His death, which occurred at the Elliott hospital, Brooklyn, early this morning, was a great loss to the church and his parish.

Rev. Harkins was not confined to his own denomination for many non-Catholics in the Highlands admired his courage and many other estimable qualities.

In South Boston, two especially in St. Ann's parish, with the death of Rev. Fr. Harkins he deplored for he was very popular there and his departure for Lowell was generally regretted. Mr. O'Donnell, the pastor of St. Augustine's, had arranged to visit Rev. Harkins on an early date but his visit now will be to attend the funeral of his dear friend.

He left Lowell a week ago last Sunday and entered the hospital on Friday to undergo an operation to relieve him of the effects of an operation for appendicitis performed some time ago.

The doctors at the hospital found him suffering from a serious brain trouble known as cerebral thrombosis. The physicians did all that medical skill could do but without avail, the end coming peacefully this morning. Rev. Harkins has been an ever popular figure in the city who attained such wide popularity in such a short time and yet he was not at any time a well man. He bore his ailments, however, with a fortitude that caused those around him to think that his attacks were not of a serious nature. He was a man of genial temperament, cheerful and pleasant, even when suffering pain, but at all times devoted to the cause of the Master. His energy under such conditions was remarkable and the rapidity with which he built the new church and established the parish proved him to be a man of great executive ability.

His Work in Lowell

Rev. Fr. Harkins was born in Newton, Mass. 44 years ago last September 15. He attended the Newton schools and then went to Holy Cross college. He was graduated from the latter college in 1886. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1890. He was assigned to St. Augustine's church, South Boston, as assistant to Monsignor O'Donnell. He remained at this church until coming to Lowell on Dec. 3, 1910. He was assigned by the Most Rev. Archbishop to come to this city and build up a parish in the Highlands. He made his headquarters at St. Peter's. At the Highland club hall he first met many of his parishioners, being tendered a great reception.

Great difficulty was experienced in securing a building suitable for the celebration of the holy sacrifice of the mass. Finally on Tuesday, January 10, 1911, Rev. Fr. Harkins moved into the parochial residence, 374 Stevens street, determined to hold services in the house until other quarters could be provided.

A room was fitted up as a chapel and on Wednesday, January 11, Mass was first celebrated at the Highlands.

The following Sunday, January 15, over 350 people crowded the parochial residence to hear mass. The week following a tent was erected and on Sunday, January 22, although the temperature was 18 outside, four hundred and fifty people heard mass there.

THE LATE REV. JOHN J. HARKINS

face and Alexis of the Passionist order, April 13 survivors and carpenters laid out the new church lines and on April 19, at 10 a. m., after a strong sermon by Father Alexis, the blessing and erecting of the cross and the turning of the first sod by the pastor, assisted by other clergymen took place.

In the afternoon of the same day before a gathering of fully five thousand people, the flag raising took place. Actual work of excavation for the new church began Monday, April 23. Laying of the corner stone was in June, and the church was opened December 17, with an organ recital and concert. The church was formally opened with services on last Christmas day.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM GETS A SURPRISE

LARCENY IS CHARGED MARRIED 40 YEARS

Lynn Police Say Women Were Victims of Moore

LYNN, Jan. 21.—Lynn police are charging him with stealing $100 from Emeline V. Gage of a local street, to whom he is said to have asserted that he possessed a "diamond mine" which was better than a diamond mine. Charles A. Moore, 27, of Boston street, a former "diamond mine" was placed under arrest yesterday by Inspector Thorne. He was taken up at the station street station and held for $5000, but at 2 o'clock he had not succeeded in securing his freedom. The police also assert that they will bring additional complaints against him, charging him with larceny of money from other women, among whom are Miss Grace Noon of 88 Mall street, Mrs. Mary Cunningham of 274 Commercial street and Mrs. Mary Allen of Amherst street, Manchester, N. H.

Moore, who is often referred to as "Doctor" recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court at Boston. He is said to have been a "diamond mine" for some time, and the police say that his debts are many and that a large number of his creditors are women, from whom he obtained money by representing that he had a scheme which was sure to pay as high as 50 per cent for the use of their money. Deputy Chief Burdett who has been in charge of the investigation of Moore's financial affairs said last night: "We are quite convinced that the case is one for the criminal courts and there is no reason to be afraid of the case of Mrs. Gage."

A woman of middle age whose life savings are represented to be $2500 which she had deposited in a New Bedford savings bank and $1000 which she had in the city. Moore went to her, so she says, and borrowed $100 in November, 1907. A month later he paid her $35 which represented, so she was told, a dividend on the investment. Thereupon he kept a note for $100 and she never saw him again. She then went to the bank and withdrew her money. She deposited the money in a bank and then decided to let Moore have the funds. She obtained from him a note in which he promised to pay her interest at the rate of 50 per cent a year. She never received the interest nor the principal.

HOW THIN PEOPLE MAY PUT ON FLESH
GREAT DISCOVERY BY EMINENT SPECIALIST
Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for for putting on flesh, the art of making thin people fleshy, developing the arms, neck and back and the soft curves of the body and the face, there are evidently thousands of men and women who feel that they are not getting on in life. A simple prescription which, by correcting faulty metabolism and stimulating the activity of certain glands, will produce a marvelous transformation in the appearance of the thin person, increasing the weight from 10 to 20 pounds in a few weeks and very rarely less than 2. This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the body. Catarrh, dyspepsia and nervousness, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, all gradually disappear; dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks grow with a bloom of perfect health. The prescription, which contains no dangerous drugs and is absolutely harmless, calls for 2 oz. Timine Caradomine Compound, 2 oz. Fluid Salogen, 2 oz. Olive Oil and enough water to fill an 8-oz. bottle, and can readily be prepared by any druggist. One or two tablespoonfuls should be taken about 20 minutes before each meal. Eat all you want but chew your food thoroughly. Embody develops the fact that this prescription is frequently used at the Baker-Jaynes drug store in this city, and by other prominent retail city druggists and we are led by their statements to use the following: CAUTION: Although the above prescription is recommended for relieving nervousness, indigestion and general troubles, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

VALUABLE COLLECTION

Rare Coins Said to Have Been Stolen by Cambridge Boys

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—While attempting to dispose of some valuable coins here yesterday police inspectors arrested John P. Crocker, 15 years old, and Allen H. Crocker, 18, both of Cambridge, Mass., as alleged fugitives from justice. The Crocker boys' father, who lives at 101 Upham road, Cambridge, is a well-known numismatist, and last night his collection was stolen. It being alleged that the house was broken into. The coins are said by the portraits of Crocker to be valued at $1200. Some particular pieces have a value of $10 to $20. The boys were taken back to Cambridge last night by an officer from the city. They had offered some of the coins here for a very small amount. Young Crocker had in his pockets besides numerous old coins a ring and two packages of gold leaf, and a bank book in his own name showing a deposit of between $5 and $20 in Cambridge bank. He also had on two pairs of trousers as did his comrade, Crocker. The other pair that Crocker had on belonged to his brother, he said. Crocker told a long story of how he came to be in the hands of the authorities. He said that he lost his position at his father's house and that his father told him he would have to get out of the parental domicile before Monday night. He and Crocker decided to go to New York, where they thought they might start out in life. The pair claimed they were unable to buy tickets for New York, so they decided to do something to bolster their financial condition. Accordingly, some time after 11 o'clock Monday night, Crocker said they ransacked his brother's trunks, then ripped the back from a picture in which were the rare coins. He also picked up a ring belonging to his mother. Leaving the Crocker house, the lads went to Boston, where they remained until early yesterday morning, when they came to this city. The local officers had the boys under arrest about the time the Cambridge police telephoned here to be on the lookout.

St. Margaret's parish is made up principally from former territory of St. Peter's and is part of St. Patrick's between 12 and 14th. Rev. Henry C. Reardon was assigned to his parish as assistant. Fr. Harbison labored hard and uncomplainingly, several times he was obliged to take to his bed, and he underwent several operations. Upon recovery he resumed his work with renewed vigor. The completion of the beautiful college was his ambition. This being accomplished, he was struggling for its location upon the arrival of Cardinal O'Connell to this country. No societies are yet organized in the parish. The pastor planned to have a mission in the church next month at which societies would be formed. Upon coming here, Fr. Harbison was unknown and had no financial backing to start his parish. He made himself acquainted, and immediately started to solicit funds for the church now completed. He started social gatherings and the parishioners, becoming attached to him, co-operated, and much money was realized. The church was erected in just seven months and ten days after his assignment to the parish. This was a remarkable feat and demonstrated the great energy of the young priest. Fr. Harbison is survived by two sisters, Mrs. P. M. O'Donnell of Newton and Mrs. Callahan of Roxbury, and two brothers, Dr. Daniel Harbison of Dorchester and Dr. Cornelius Harbison of Jamaica Plain. He was also a nephew of the late Monsignor P. J. Harbison of Boston, who died shortly after Fr. Harbison's assignment to St. Margaret's parish. He also leaves many other relatives in and around Boston. Deceased was noted as a composer, having composed the words for several choruses that attained local popularity. The remains of Fr. Harbison will arrive in this city tomorrow afternoon. Funeral Arrangements
The funeral of the late Rev. John J. Harbison will take place from St. Margaret's church, Sacramento street, on Friday morning with a solemn high funeral mass at 10 o'clock. The last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, body will lie in state from 1 o'clock to 11 o'clock at 60 Rea st., Oakland.

A DANGEROUS FIRE Broke Out in the State Hospital at Danvers Today

DANVERS, Jan. 24.—Fire, which for a time threatened to destroy a large part of the state hospital for the insane here, caused a loss that will reach $15,000 early today. There was considerable excitement in the buildings but it was necessary to remove only 150 men from one section of the men's wards where the fire was confined. The inmates remained cool during the fire and at no time was a panic likely.

The fire started in the tower of section B2 near the center of the hospital buildings, probably from sparks of an overheated carbon motor. Immediately an alarm was given and the hospital fire brigade responded and did effective work, keeping the flames well in hand until the Danvers fire department reached the scene. Salem sent a steamer and crew of firemen to assist in fighting the fire. The efforts of the entire force of firemen succeeded in preventing the blaze from spreading beyond the tower where it started, although for a time it was feared that adjoining buildings would be burned.

Soon after the fire was discovered the nurses and attendants hastily awakened the sleeping inmates in the section and they were marched into another building. The patients caused no trouble and quietly made their way from one building to the other. Those removed comprised the inmates who were demented but not violent and all were men. The coolness of the nurses and guards helped considerably in keeping the inmates quiet and they were told that there was no serious danger. The loss to the building was principally from water and smoke.

While holding a hose, William Sibbett of the local fire department fell down stairs and struck on his head, sustaining severe injuries.

YOUNG BOYLE
Lowell Boxer Who Is Coming to the Front

The contest went the limit and was declared a draw. Boyle gave an excellent exhibition, particularly at fighting and the large crowd repeatedly applauded him for his work. At the end of the bout, when Boyle was going to his dressing room he was given a great hand. So good an impression did he make that the sports in Westfield are anxious to have him appear there in the near future. Young Boyle arrived home yesterday looking fine and carrying no marks of his battle. He started training today for his bout at the Lowell Social club on Friday evening.

SHIPPING CIRCLES

Disturbed by Activity of Italian Vessels

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The activity of Italian war vessels in the Mediterranean and Red seas is causing uneasiness in shipping insurance circles. Several large insurances have been effected during the past few days at Lloyd's in this connection. A premium of five per cent was accepted to cover the risk of an outbreak of hostilities between France and Italy in the course of the next four months and although there is no apparent reason for such an occurrence a premium of six per cent was paid on the risk of an outbreak between Great Britain, France and Germany within the next six months. The Italian action is stopping steamers irrespective of their nationality and searching them for Turkish officers and contraband is believed to be an evidence of the determination of the Italian government to put an end to Turkish resistance in Tripoli as speedily as possible. It is thought, however, that the Italian activity may prove a complication with these European powers whose shipping is put to inconvenience.

INDIANAPOLIS—The Johnny "King" Kluge, the famous catcher, who was just appointed manager of the Boston Nationals, is out with a challenge to the pool sharks of the city. For the past few weeks King has been practicing here and is in the shape for a match with any of the stars. A few years ago King won the pool championship of America. If any of the sharks accept Kluge's challenge, it is more than likely that the match will be played early in February inasmuch as Kluge has been in the habit of leaving for spring training at the end of his training period.
